Tuesday, May 14, 2019 – 8:00AM-5:00PM
Spurlock Museum – University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign

We invite you to join The University of Illinois, Georgia Institute of Technology, Johns Hopkins University, and Morgan State University as we develop a consortium around the ideals of successful aging and technology.

This event will connect academic researchers with representatives from industry to identify current gaps in products and services, discuss possible barriers for overcoming these, and map a path to successfully fulfill the needs of the aging population with the use of novel and commercial technologies.

To Register:
Please complete the registration form at: https://forms.illinois.edu/sec/9171417
Please Register by May 7, 2019

Unable to join us in person?
This event will be live streamed to ensure that those who are interested are able to join.

Have a question?
Email: Brian Pastor
pastor2@illinois.edu