About the ISSA

The Illinois Student Semiconductor Association (ISSA) at UIUC is dedicated to fostering a strong community of students interested in the semiconductor industry. Our goal is to provide members with the resources, knowledge, and connections needed to excel in this rapidly evolving field. Whether through academic enrichment, technical skill-building, or career development, ISSA strives to prepare students for impactful roles in the semiconductor industry. ISSA is committed to helping members develop both technical and professional skills. We organize professor talks and technical seminars as well as hands-on projects and workshops, through which members gain practical experience that reinforces classroom learning. We also host resume reviews, interview prep sessions, and networking events to ensure our members are well-prepared for internships and full-time positions.

Building strong industry connections is a priority for ISSA. We collaborate with leading semiconductor companies to offer guest speaker sessions, company-sponsored events, and career panels, allowing members to interact with professionals and explore career paths. ISSA fosters a welcoming and collaborative environment through social events, helping students connect with peers who share a passion for semiconductors. Through these initiatives, ISSA is shaping the next generation of semiconductor leaders at Illinois.
