

Eastern Europe & EU Integration

A traditional East German Trabant driving through the Berlin Wall

EURO 490
SLAV 452

Explores the subject of European Union expansion to the east and south from an interdisciplinary, multifocal perspective, examining crucial problems of political enlargement and social integration. Addresses issues of East European domestic and transnational identities in the broader European context, and intersection of these issues with the European integration project, to include representations of Eastern Europe, historical conflict, migration, religious identities, and gendered identities.

Tu & Th 12:30pm-1:50pm

Lead Instructor: George Gasyna, Dept. of Slavic Languages & Literature; ggasyna@illinois.edu

This course is offered as part of an EU Center Jean Monnet Module funded by the European Union.

● Spring 2015 ●
Course